AWR COMPLETES PEER REVIEW WITH STAMP OF EXCELLENCE

McLean, VA — October 11, 2007 — Argy, Wiltse & Robinson, P.C. (AWR), a rapidly-growing certified public accounting and business advisory firm, is proud to announce that it has successfully completed its recent peer review with no letter comments. AWR has never received a letter comment since its inception in 1991, a level of quality achieved by only a very small percentage of CPA firms.

The American Institute of CPAs (AICPA) requires all certified public accounting firms to undergo a thorough review of their attest services and systems of quality control by another registered firm. In this case, a team from a very large national firm performed the peer review. The peer review was conducted by reviewing a sample of attest engagements performed by AWR, as well as reviewing its controls to ascertain that the firm is in compliance with industry standards. Argy, Wiltse & Robinson, P.C. received a clean review with no letter comments.

“We are proud of the fact that AWR has completed another successful peer review and has received no letter comments since the firm’s inception 16 years ago,” said Paul Argy, AWR’s President and CEO. “We strive to demonstrate the highest level of quality in every aspect of our business.”

Peer reviews are conducted every three years. AWR will undergo its next review in 2010.
